Race Preview: Arashi has run two decent races in a row and won't be winning out of turn. Back From War made a fair debut in what was a competitive race and must make improvement. Sylvan Warrior has shown pace but needs to find more to get into the fray. The majority are first-timers and the betting market must be closely watched. Blizzard Quest and Ideal Summer have speedy pedigrees and could be the ones to attract support.

Race Preview: Gimmetheregreenlight filly Emerald Forge looks well placed and could make a promising debut for a yard and rider in hot form. Crystal Grove should be prominent if judged on her bloodlines and she needs to be watched. But again, plenty newcomers in the hunt and it should pay to follow the money. Opera Fan and Vegas Girl showed some potential on debut and should run better races second time out.

Race Preview: Kaleesh Cyborg tried going much further but had issues last time. He is bred for more ground but has sprinted well and could turn in a better performance. Mizzen Sword met a promising sort last time. He is holding form but needs to find more for the win. Trip To States ran a decent race after a rest and could show more stripping fitter. The Sean Tarry coupling of Cronus and Futurenaire have both shown similar potential and need to be taken seriously even if a bit disappointing in their second starts. Empress Wu could appreciate the drop in distance.

Race Preview: Dupont Emerald did everything but win when beaten as odds-on favourite last time. She has drawn toward the inside but should nevertheless run another good race. Saudi Sweep has also run some decent races and was close up over further too. If ready after a break she could be a big threat. Wearingofthegreen, stablemate to Dupont Emerald, showed potential at the start of the season and may have strengthened up and improved. She must be respected. Tipperary has more than once shown she can win but has had many chances. Potato Salad is starting to improve.

Race Preview: Page Boy is lightly raced and could be one that will only get better with racing. He is well bred and must have a say in this line up. Watch out for Mystic Vision who has been staying on over shorter. He could relish the step up in distance. Older runner Chieftain's Shield could take advantage on current form. He has, however, drawn a bit wide. Brigham showed a few runs back. He had a wide draw last time so could improve on his first try over 1600m. Prolific Star could have more to come after needing his last start.

Race Preview: Lancaster Bomber filly One Fell Swoop was ousted only late in what was a competitive heat. Her rider lost the crop then she can be deemed a bit unlucky. Tropo Veloce, like One Fell Swoop, has shown a bit of class and prior to her last run had run some very good races. She could be prominent here. Just The Two Of Us won easily last time having bounced back to best but did finish behind Night Vigil the time they met. Both are useful and should be right there carrying light weights. Bosum Buddy tried different things recently and is one to keep an eye on.

Race Preview: Chocolate Soldier is in top form and should run another big race. He has drawn toward the inside which may play against him. Pistol Pete is weighted to run just as well. He just held on last time but is, nevertheless, in cracking form and must be in the fight. Truth impressed in his last start and could be back to his very best. He did well in a sprint early in his career and must not be taken lightly. It could get close between Karate Kid and Rondebosch, both of whom are talented and have more to come. The latter appears handily weighted.

Both have done well in the wet and could take it to the wire. Artist's Model ran a brave race in his comeback start carrying a big weight. He is back to his best distance and could be hard to peg back. Zuzan has been showing good pace and could suddenly be stubborn up front. Whafeef and Command Pilot can earn.

She finished 3.50 lengths behind the former but could get a lot closer at the revised terms. Vesuvio was unlucky in his last start. He should not mind being jumped up in distance as he is also versatile and must be included. Hawkbill is not one to take lightly either. He is capable of a good finish and could be even better over the extra. Rule Book should come to life if the going comes up soft. More can earn.

Race Preview: Proven stayer Royal Mazarin is in good form. He ran a fair race after a rest and should come on nicely. He is drawn a bit wide but has run well on wet ground so should give a good account of himself. Recent maiden winner Poplar Park wasn't disgraced on handicap debut and could show more over the longer distance. Angel's Wish has yet to win at this track but was Eye Catching last time and she could get her turn. Teo Torriatte has the form but along with Only A Poet needs to get the timing right. Both must be respected along with Romeo's Magic, Ideal Future and Ultimissimo.
