2 Gimme The Power

Race Preview: Cliffscape ran a lovely race behind a smart horse last time, she is improving with every start, from a good draw, she will be very hard to beat. Plumbago Park ran a fair race on debut behind Jordash, she was green early and then stayed on well towards the end of the race, with natural improvement on the cards, she must be respected here. Merryweather finished just over three lengths behind Ireland Forever on debut, there is no doubt she will improve, watch her closely at a decent price. Watch the market closely when it comes to the first timers, there are some well-bred individuals lining up in this race.

Race Preview: The Abdicator changed stables on 17 January, he ran a cracking race up the straight last time at Kenilworth behind Tenango, he is very talented on his day, include him into all bets, he should go close to winning from a good draw. Arctic Wizard has been super consistent through his entire racing career, the yard thinks highly of this colt, if he gets some luck in running from a tricky draw, he could have a massive winning chance. Elusive Winter won well on 1 February, he is very fast, his form has been good, include him into all bet types. Nordic Chief has been rested for 81 days and the blinkers have been re-fitted, on his best form, he could certainly earn some money.

Race Preview: Catch A Penny tried hard last time over 1400m at Kenilworth, she drops back in trip now to 1250m, if she behaves and she can get a good run in transit from a tricky draw, she will go very close to winning. Ruby Rex ran a cracker on debut behind the well supported Rahhabba, if she can improve from that performance and she handles the track, there is no doubt she will be right there in the finish. Alex Miller has been rested for 91 days, she is much better than her last run on 4 December, the drop in trip should help her, if she doesn't need the run badly, she will be competitive. Hoerikwaggo never really quickened last time behind stable companion Princessontherun, watch her closely, she could improve now that she races around the bend. (Brandon Bailey: 12 - 9 - 6 - 7)

Race Preview: Dubbelosix may have just needed his last run behind Tenpenny, he should get the run of the race here from a good draw, this looks to be the right race for him to exit the maiden ranks. Golden Grey fought hard all the way to the line in his last start behind Cosmic Rhythm, he is a tricky horse to ride, but he gets a good draw and jockey Grant van Niekerk has been booked to ride, he can certainly win a race like this. Gold Dust ran a lovely race on debut, he caught the eye late behind Circumbendibus, he will love the step up in trip, include him into all bets. Master Bomber ran a fair race over 1400m last time, the further step up in trip to 1600m should unlock more improvement from this gelding.

Race Preview: Greenlight Skye improved nicely in her last start on 5 February, she really enjoyed the step up in trip, this is not a strong race, if she can build on her last run, she will be hard to beat here. Beautiful Side has run two fair races in succession, she is still improving, watch her closely in this tricky race. English Mistress never runs a bad race, she tries hard, on her best form, she will remain competitive. Strawberry Thief ran a much better race last time, she is getting better and stronger with more racing, if she can beat the draw, she will have a good each way chance.

Race Preview: Tap Shoes won super impressively on 11 January, she quickened up smartly to beat Family Power really well, she is lightly raced, and she is still improving, with some luck in running on Wednesday afternoon, she could easily win again. Royal Invitation has been rested for 67 days, her last run behind Omikami was good, she is consistent, despite the big weight of 62kg, she must be included into all bets. Lavender Bay was completely outclassed in the Grade 1 Paddock Stakes, the blinkers have been removed, if she gets cheap sectionals up in front, she could be quite dangerous at a big price. Jet To The Sun is much better than her last start, the form of that race has worked out well, she could bounce back and earn again for the connections.
